Chicago. April 22.—Liquidation was the order of the day in the wheat pit. From the clang of the opening bell to the finish, long wheat was sumped into the pit, and the decline was so precipitate at times that commission houses were considered fortunate if they succeeded in executing stop loss orders within $\frac{3}{2}$c of the limit. There were times during which covering by shorts or by owners of downward indemnities more than offset the realizing sales, but these were brief as a rule. At the low point July recorded a loss of $\frac{4}{3}$d from yesterday, and May dropped $\frac{4}{2}$c from yesterday, and May dropped during the campaign, which was just one week ago, and a decilne of $\frac{3}{2}$c for May. The erstwhile leader of the bulls was not in evidence personally in the pit, having left the city yesterday on a western trip. The Patten house, however, was well represented by brokers, who, it was claimed, kept unloading wheat as rapidly as conditions would permit. Selling by other leading commission houses also was on an enormous sale, three or four concerns being credited with sales during the day aggregating between five and seven million bushils. Meanwhile several things tended to contradict the theory advocated by the bulls of a scarcity of wheat. The wheat-producing countries of the southern hemisphere, which have been listed as being extremely short of the cereal, were GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.
